

PRESS RELEASE - July 9th 2013

Tom's Planner N.V. acquires Gantto Inc.

We are happy to announce that Tom's Planner NV has acquired Gantto Inc. Both companies provide similar SaaS solutions in the project scheduling (Gantt charts) space.

Tom's Planner's acquired Gantto primarily for its strong market position and its active user base. Due to the fact that Gantto is based upon a different technology stack, we will gradually phase out support for the Gantto product and continue to work on the Tom's Planner tool.

Following this decision the joined companies will continue to operate under the Tom's Planner brand. All original Gantto users will be offered ample time to switch to the Tom's Planner technology without losing any of their work.

In the coming 12 months we will apply Gantto's experience with its more complex and advanced feature set to Tom's Planner's product. While maintaining its famed user friendliness Tom's Planner will start adding more advanced features as plugins to the tool. Gantto's knowledge and experience will be invaluable in that process.

We are sure that Gantto's market position & user base and the further development of Tom's Planner will strengthen the newly formed company as a whole and make it an even stronger competitor in the market.

The Acquisition will take effect as of the 9th of July.

About Tom's Planner:
